Dear Shewood:

While researching the book, First Over Germany, I was able to refer to your wounds in only the most general way.

I would appreciate it very much if you could give me more detail on your wounds, and the events of your military life following that. Any recollections you have of that period would be most welcome to add to my files. One never knows when one may need more information on a given mission.

I look forward to meeting you in Dayton.

Sincerely yours,

Russell A. Strong

Dear Son: Strong,

Just a note to let you know how pleasantly surprised Sherwood (Sherry) was and how proud "I" felt when we discovered his name being mentioned in your excellent novel "Just One Summary".

Your eleven years of what must have been a "labor of love" is a credit to our men of the Air Force

"m' Lord and 'm' Lady,"

Greetings and Salutations!
Yours "Subjects" sincerely hope you reached home during the month of JUNE!!!

Sherry and I reached our bed and board twenty-five hours after boarding our plane at Isotubick. We changed airlines again in Detroit (this time, Delta), but our luggage arrived
"in Houston on Northwest Orient before" we did - we still cannot figure this out. Weather was our problem all the way this return trip (through Dallas/St. Worth).

I was really ill with a bad cold and "no voice" for about four days (in bed) and arose only to go back to bed with a pinched nerve for about three more days - Sherry's feeling great, as am I, now.

We so enjoyed our trip with all of you, and the whole experience was pretty exhilarating.
Love, Ursula & Sherry Old
