"1. Instances of unauthorized divulgence of classified information have recently occurred. These incidents have created unwarranted difficulties and undesirable situations. They indicate the need for positive reaffirmation of the provisions of AR 300-5 (Safeguarding Military Information).

2. In view of the proposed relaxation of provisions of military censorship regulations, it is vital that commanders bring to the immediate attention of all their units and agencies, the basic regulation which prohibits, and will continue to prohibit, divulging of classified information to persons other than those official duties require such information. This prohibition applies equally to divulging classified information to members of the press." IN OFFICE OF GENERAL WELSH.
